DreamMaker Bath & Kitchen Names C-Tech-I a Preferred Vendor

Italian manufacturer of renowned stainless steel sinks to provide products to franchisees

WACO, Texas (June 28, 2005) – DreamMaker Bath & Kitchen by Worldwide®, the nation’s premiere remodeling franchise, has named C-Tech-I a preferred vendor to supply its high-end stainless steel sinks and faucets to franchisees across the nation, effective immediately.

Manufactured in Italy, C-Tech-I products rival traditional 18-gauge stainless steel sinks found in the U.S. by using 16-gauge stainless steel, making the sleek designs stronger and more durable under performance. The company also includes padding and insulation on all of its fixtures as an added design element, and each of the sinks comes with exclusive accessories in the DreamMaker agreement.

“The level of customer service and quality of the C-Tech-I products are a perfect compliment to the high standards DreamMaker franchisees require for their remodeling projects,” said Lenny Wortham, vice president of training and technical for DreamMaker. “And the collective buying power of our franchise network should bring this luxury Italian item to a lot more homes demanding high-end performance and leading design from their fixtures.”

Chris Salas, warehouse manager for C-Tech-I who handles U.S. distribution of the Italian sinks from Florida, said the relationship with DreamMaker Bath & Kitchen will raise awareness for the product line across the U.S. and give homeowners a quality element to their overall remodeling projects.

The vendor agreement includes 14 sink designs for the kitchen, two sink designs for the bathroom, seven faucet choices and more. Information about C-Tech-I is available at www.sinksrus.com.
